GLC-SPIL ILJ VOL. VII ISSUE I

SPIL, Mumbai is inviting submissions for the Volume VII Issue I of the GLC SPIL International Law Journal (ILJ). Volume VII is dedicated to exploring the wider domain of Public or Private International Law. In today's interconnected world, international law plays a vital role in promoting global stability, cooperation and peace. This edition aims to explore the multidimensional realm of international law, examining its influence on global policies and politics.

We are inviting submissions that delve into any aspect within this theme, allowing contributors the freedom to address a broad spectrum of topics that resonate with their interests and expertise. By encouraging this breadth, we aim to capture a wide array of perspectives that contribute to the discourse on International Law.

This edition represents an opportunity for contributors, be they scholars, legal practitioners, or students, to engage in a meaningful dialogue on one of the most pressing legal issues of our time. We look forward to your submissions with great anticipation!
